ASTIGMATISM.

What It Is, and How Corrected.

Asigmatism or Irregular Vision is one of the most common of all the refractive errors. It is due to the irregular curvature of the film known as the Cornea. Of course no instrument is sufficient to correct it, but in the hands of a thoroughly efficient and competent eye specialist the ophthalmometer reveals the exact condition of the eye in a way that nothing else can. If your eyes need attention have DR. J. T. JOHNSON to put them under this wonderful instrument. Office hours 9:30 to 12:30; 2 to 6. 3024 S. Elm St.

IN MEMORY OF H. H. CARTLAND.

Resolutions Adopted by Directors of High Point Bank.

At a meeting of the directors of the Commercial Bank of High Point, held in their office on Wednesday evening, May 3rd, 1899, the following preamble and resolutions were offered by J. J. Cox, J. B. Best and W. G. Bradshaw and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, in the Providence of God, death has invaded our ranks and removed Herbert H. Cartland, one of the charter shareholders and a faithful officer of this bank, and whereas we desire to offer a tribute to his memory and a testimony to his fidelity as a friend and to his ability as an officer, therefore be it resolved:

1st, That we bow in great sorrow to this affliction which has removed a faithful and efficient director from this bank, whose place will be hard to fill.

2nd, That we will cherish his memory and strive to emulate his noble example.

3rd, That we tender our sympathy to his bereaved family in the hour of deep affliction and commend them to the tender mercies of our Heavenly Father who alone can comfort.

4th, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on our minutes, a copy sent to the family, a copy sent to High Point Enterprise and to each of the daily papers published in Greensboro with a request that they publish the same.

AT HOME AGAIN.

Dr. and Mrs. Dred Peacock Return From Europe.

Dr. Dred Peacock, president of Greensboro Female College, and Mrs. Peacock, returned home last night from their European tour. They spent the night at the college and left this morning for Trinity to see their little son, John, who, during their absence, stayed with his grandmother, Mrs. O. W. Carr. They will return to Greensboro probably tonight. Mr. John Peacock, of St. Louis, who accompanied them on their trip, will remain in Europe a few weeks longer.

Dr. and Mrs. Peacock are much pleased with their tour, having been greatly benefited by it. They went first to Gibraltar, then to Naples and Rome. After spending a short while in the latter place, they went to Paris, where they remained several weeks, studying. From Paris they went to England and, after visiting London, Liverpool and other prominent places, sailed from Southampton on April 26th for home. Just eight days after leaving Southampton they reached Greensboro and their many friends are glad to welcome them back.

During the absence of Dr. Peacock the college has been under the efficient management of Prof. T. A. Smoot.

MRS. LINDAU THE HOSTESS.

Kalamazoo Whist Club Meets at Her Elegant Home.

The Kalamazoo Whist Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. Lindau and a most delightful meeting it was. There were twenty-four ladies present and the hostess had prepared to make every moment of the meeting a pleasant one. When the guests arrived a large punchbowl of lemonade was served. The card tables were marked with candles of different colors, placed in beautiful wrought-iron candlesticks. After the usual number of games, delicious refreshments, consisting of fruits and cakes were served and to them the guests did full justice. Mrs. Lindau is an admirable hostess and the meeting with her will be long remembered by the members of the Kalamazoo.

SANTO TOMAS CAPTURED

By Wheaton's Brigade After Severe Fighting

INSURGENTS SET FIRE TO TOWN.

Lawton's Successful Movements Are Attended With Great Difficulty Owing to the Heat, Etc.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Manila, May 4.—Word has just come from the front that Wheaton's brigade captured Santo Tomas today, after hard fighting. The insurgents resisted desperately, and when the Americans finally entered the town they found the enemy had evacuated, first setting fire to many houses and leaving the entire town in flames. The rebels made their principal stand at the bridge four miles this side of Santo Tomas. The bridge was carried by the American assault.

Hale is now pursuing the insurgents toward San Fernando, and Sumner's brigade is advancing northward toward Mossin.

LAWTON HOLDS FA'INAG.

Washington, May 4.—The war department has received the following dispatch from Ota at Manila:

"The situation is as follows: Lawton holds Balingay. It was captured on the 2nd after a rapid movement from Augat, where our supplies, wagon trains, pack animals, etc., are stationed. He scattered the strongly entrenched enemy to the north and northwest, capturing large amounts of food supplies. Lawton's successful movements were attended with great difficulty because of the rough character of the country, the heat and the rains. Our railway communications are now covered, and the army will receive supplies from Malolos. McArthur's camp was concentrated and took up the advance to San Fernando this morning."

"I do not apprehend sharp resistance from the enemy, who will probably leave the railroad and retire in northeasterly direction north of Lawton. The destruction of the railroad near Calumpit necessitates a dependence upon wagon transportation. The enemy has nine thousand, opposed by a sufficient force. Many requests received from outlying cities for protection against insurgent troops. Ota."

AGUINALDO GETS SOME BOODLE.

Hong Kong, May 4.—The claim of Aguinaldo against the Bank of Hong Kong for two hundred thousand dollars was settled today and the money paid.

In addition to these well known educators there will be Prof. Hammel, of Maryland Normal College, Prof. Rose, of Peabody Normal College, Prof. Reeder, of Teachers College Columbia University, Dr. Jacques W. Rodway, the eminent geographical author and lecturer, and Dr. W. S. Currell, of Washington and Lee University. TWO HUNDRED KILLED.

The Tale of An Escaped Spanish Prisoner.

Manila, May 3.—The Filipino envoys, Major Manuel Arguelles and Lieutenant Jose Bernel, have abandoned the pretense under which they came to General Ota—that they represented General Antonio Luna, and today they announced that they came as representatives of Aguinaldo himself. The two emissaries used all their wiles to secure a reply from General Ota to the letter from Senor Mabini, Aguinaldo's prime minister and minister of foreign affairs in the dictator's cabinet, which they presented to General Ota yesterday; but General Ota refused to make any reply on the ground that to do so would be equivalent to a recognition of the so-called government of the Philippines.

Major Arguelles said that Aguinaldo knew he would be overpowered in time, but that he would be able to continue the fight for months, and that he would do so unless he were given with Major Aguilles terms peace with dignity.

Mr. Schurman, the president of the United States Philippine commission, expressed the opinion that the interview accorded by General Ota to the Filipino envoys will have a good moral effect, as tending to convince Aguinaldo's representatives that the American authorities mean to give the Philippines a good government, and not one of the Spanish sort. Certainly it has had a civilizing influence in inducing them to observe the amenities of war and consent to the Americans furnishing food for American prisoners.

The exodus of natives from the insurgent lines continues. By filling in the roads where it was required, putting raucos on the rivers and plowing fields south of Malolos, the American army is in a fine position for the expected decisive blow.

General McArthur has moved his headquarters to San Vicente, across the Rio Grande. General Wheaton's brigade has advanced beyond Apalit. General Hale has returned to co-operate with General Lawton.

At Balicog last evening there was a running fight, in the course of which one American soldier was killed and three were wounded. The rebels scattered before General Lawton and General Hale.

On yesterday while Capt. Wheeler, with a detachment of the Fourth cavalry, was covering General Hale's advance, he discovered a large body of rebels at Pullian. The cavalry opened fire, but there was no response. Thinking that the rebels wanted to surrender, Lieutenant Bell went forward to parley with them. The Filipinos replied that they did not wish to surrender, but that they had been ordered to refrain from fighting during the negotiations. They asked what Lieutenant Bell wanted, and in reply were given half an hour in which to retire, which they improved.

A Spanish prisoner who escaped into the American lines reports that after General Hale's advance on Quinlan two hundred Filipinos were buried, thirty-five in one trench and twenty-seven in another. This is the largest number of rebels that have been killed in any engagement for several months.

A RUNAWAY BOY.

E. B. Fitzgerald, a farmer of Orinoco, a little town about six miles from High Point, was in the city today in search of his son, who was away from home yesterday. The boy, whose name is John, left home about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and went to High Point, where he was last seen about 7 o'clock last evening. He has a brother here and his father thought perhaps he would come to this place. He is about 12 years old and when he left home, was dressed in working clothes and wearing an old straw hat.

Mr. Fitzgerald is much troubled over the loss of his son and would be very grateful for any information as to his whereabouts.

Greensboro Assists Wilmington.

Prof. Charles J. Brookmann, Dr. John H. Wheeler and Messrs. W. Frank Blount and Nay Forbis left at noon today for Wilmington, where they go to assist in making music at a historical oratorio concert to be given there tomorrow night by the Wilmington Musical Association. The Greensboro gentlemen are members of the Brookmann orchestra and will practice with the Wilmington players for the first time tonight. "Joan of Arc" will be presented by the Wilmington people. Prof. Brookmann and his students should consider it quite a compliment to be called across the state.

Cost of the War.

Treasury estimates of the cost of the Spanish-American war, based on department statistics of expenditure, indicate an actual excess of public outlay during the war period of about $300,000,000 as compared with the treasury budget in time of peace.

Several hundred others participated in the rush for land although the register announced that duplicate filings would not be received.

THROUGH THE TRUE GLASS.

We are very glad to notice that some of the great representative newspapers of the north are laying aside that microscope of prejudice with which they have long been regarding the south and the conditions of the south, and are contemplating the field with the true glass. The recent terrible occurrence in the state of Georgia, while it has aroused the whole country to expressions of horror and condemnation, has moreover aroused the whole country to a realization of the cause of the acts of frenzied southern mobs, and the terrible provocation the southern people are called upon to undergo. And the fact is beginning to dawn to the people of the north that the white men of the south are not blood-thirsty, but are law-abiding and long-suffering; that they are slow in entrance to a quarrel, but "being in they bear it to that the oppressor may beware of them." And profound thinkers of the north are discussing questions that have not been mooted before, as the following from yesterday's Philadelphia Record attests:

The emancipation of the negro was undoubtedly a step in the right direction; but a grave doubt is arising in the minds possibly of a majority of the white citizens of the Union whether in undertaking to clothe the negro with all the rights of citizenship we did not go either too far or act too precipitately. The experiment is not giving satisfactory results. The following commentary of the Toronto Globe upon the late terrible occurrences in the south shows how grave the situation is esteemed to be by a not unfriendly and certainly an unprejudiced observer:

A possible solution, if only an imperfect one, would be for the authorities to admit frankly that equality is impossible, to acquiesce in the disfranchisement of the negro, but to insist upon his living under the protection of the law. The conditions of the problem may also be modified by changes of industrial conditions in the south. At present, which ever side of the story is believed, the appearances are gloomy and threatening to the last degree. Whether negro crime is driving the whites to frenzy, or whether the whites, from mere cruelty, tyranny and race hatred, have entered upon a wholesale persecution of the negroes, the gravity of the situation is equally apparent.

The Record concludes:

Something has been done in the direction suggested by the Globe by some of the southern states to make such tests of qualification for the suffrage as to disqualify a large proportion of the black vote; but it is beginning to be evident that a more radical remedy is needed before we can hope to establish a better understanding between the races. We have attempted to pull down natural barriers that can neither be destroyed nor safely overpassed.

Fred Funston, the gallant colonel of the Kansas regiment on the island of Luzon, took a rope in his teeth and swam the Rio Grande in the face of the enemy's bullets, which led to the brilliant victory of the Americans. This was a most noble and daring feat, but the strange thing about it is that McKinley has promoted Colonel Funston to the rank of brigadier-general. There is no record that Funston's father ever gave a cent to the Republican campaign fund, and the president's act arouses astonishment in those fat generals and colonels and majors and other officials who have never smelt gunpowder or listened to the merry Mauser's song in search of a resting place.

There never arises a public idiosyncrasy but that the New York Journal, that prince of yellow sheets, mounts it and never ceases to ride till the thing falls dead from weariness. Quick to create a hobby and quicker still to desert it, the Journal can always be found on the people's side of any burning question, and it is given credit for the recent decrease in the price of New York City gas from $1.10 to 65 cents per thousand. Most everything has some good mission, and this sensation-monger seems to have performed it's for-ordained end with that eternal, irrepressible wall for cheaper light.

This is the day set apart for the cruiser Raleigh to come to North Carolina waters, and when the gallant warship ploughs her way up the Cape Fear to Wilmington she will find a warm, enthusiastic welcome. Captain Coghlan, with the insolent tongue, will be on board and visitors from all over the state who have gathered to do honor to the ship named for the state, will have the keen pleasure of shaking the man's hand who, one year ago, reported the cruiser to Dewey as "safe from the jaws of death, safe from the gates of hell, and little the worse for the scrimmage."

We are very glad to know that Miss Sallie W. Stockard, one of the state's brightest and most cultured young women, will publish sketches of history and other interesting topics pertaining to the Old North State. She commences with a sketch of Alamance county in this morning's Raleigh Post, which is very interesting. Many deeds of daring and glory live only in the memory of some of our old citizens and being recorded with the embellishing touch of the historian will truly make the old state as rich "in noble deeds of daring men" as Scotland.

As the hero of El Caney shall wade through this mass let us hope that one human being, at least, will have a proper appreciation of the stupendousness of the task undertaken by the crank who is going to clip out and send to Alger all the newspaper articles condemnatory of the war secretary's public acts.

Scared Into Appendicitis.

"I had appendicitis the other day," said a St. Charles street business man; "that is to say, I had it to all intents and purposes. This is the way I contracted it. About a week ago I borrowed a medical work from a friend to look up a point about which I was curious. It was a work on diagnosis, and among other things it gave a minute description of the symptoms of appendicitis. I have always been much afraid of the malady, and that chapter had a hideous fascination for me. I read it and reread it, and as I did so it seemed to me that some of the premonitory signs coincided exactly with certain aches and pains I had felt for several days. I got alarmed at once, and that night was panic-stricken by a severe cramp a little northeast of my right hip bone. That I knew to be the fatal spot, and needless to say, I didn't sleep a wink.

"By morning I had all the symptoms of a typical case and could scarcely get around to see the doctor. I began to tell him my story when he stopped me. 'How do you come to know so much about the disease?' he asked. 'I replied proudly that I had been reading up on it. 'The dickens you have!' he replied. 'Well, you got right out of this office, confound you, and don't waste any more of my time!'

"Then he explained that every medical student always has all the diseases on record, in regular order, just as he studies 'em, and I began to feel better. I went home, returned the blasted book, and am now entirely out of danger, thank you. It was the quickest recovery on record."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Queer Examination.

Difficulties of the civil service examinations are multiplied tenfold in the requirements set down by law of applicants for positions in the mail service of China.

In the first place an applicant must have strength and courage. To acquire these he goes through a very queer method of training. He wanders through mountains and valleys, forests and caves. The exact time to be occupied in a trip is fixed by law, and a heavy fine is imposed for unnecessary delay. He must repeat these trips at night, and if he listens to the bad spirits and thereby fails to appear at the required time at a certain place he is sure to lose his rights to a position.

This is not all. He is obliged to carry an enormous weight for many miles, and return with it within a given time. No allowance is made for his inability to defend himself against thieves and highwaymen, his road usually leading through a district thick with bandits.

In training the candidate eats very little—though he is treated to this—and he tries every straining exercise. Then comes his real examination under the direction of government officials. He is taken into a long room, where, suspended from a high beam with strong ropes, are very heavy sacks filled with rocks.

The candidate must give a swinging motion to all these sacks and then run to and fro between them, carefully guarding against a blow by one of the weights.

Curiosities of Journalism.
A paper in India recently published the following explanation: "This is only the beginning of our troubles. We were not sure how much matter was required to fill it up, and thinking we had sufficient, we did not exert ourselves much to get any more. We therefore beg that our readers will excuse us this time for the space left blank, and we promise to do better and get more in the future."

Still more curious was the announcement of a paper which came out for the first time with two columns blank. The editor making the bold announcement that "the large quantity of matter of interesting matter has been left out for want of space."

When the native editor wants a holiday, he suspends publication until it is convenient to resume, and taking his readers into his confidence, informs them plainly why the paper has not appeared on the expected dates.

"We propose to take our annual holiday. We are sure none of them will begrudge us our relaxation."

Twenty Lashes For Six Hats.

A singular theft was tried by Mr. Beale, first class magistrate. Superstitious Burmans pull out the hairs of an elephant's tail for talismans making rings out of them and other charms. One Nge Tun Lin went into an elephant's shed at Ahlo and pulled six hairs out of a bull elephant's tail, scattering them in his umbrella. The mahout challenged him, and he promptly shook the hairs out of the umbrella. They fell on some straw, were picked up and put forward in evidence of theft. The man was convicted and sentenced to receive 20 lashes.—Times of Burma.

Mutual Dialing.

Brahms and Tchaikowsky, the famous musicians, met but twice. On the last occasion Brahms was sufficiently interested in Tchaikowsky's "Fifth Symphony" to travel expressly to Hamburg in order to make its acquaintance. After the performance the distinguished composers dined together, and the concertmaster Brahms frankly admitted that he did not like the work at all; whereupon the usually meek Russian plucked up sufficient courage to inform his host that the dislike each other's music was mutual. They parted on excellent terms nevertheless.

Wanted Warmth.

"I think it would be well," said the doctor, "to have your dining room bordered by a frieze."

"No, no," remonstrated the man who had only recently struck it. "I want that room above all others, to have a warm, cozy appearance."—Philadelphia North American.

Yellow Jaundice Cured.

Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "I am glad to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from yellow jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and as yet no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

AN HONEST ARTIST.

He Would Not Paint a Lie Even For a Napoleon.

There was no love lost between the Emperor Louis Napoleon and his cousin, Prince Napoleon, whom the Parisians called "Pon Pon." The prince used to make abusive speeches against the emperor, which people were only too ready to repeat to him. "Let him alone," Louis Napoleon would reply. "He is too well known. No one would turn me out to place him on the throne." The emperor was correct, for no one said a good word about "Pon Pon." He was commonly believed to have shown the white feather in the Crimea and never exposed himself where the lead was falling. An English lady, who in her young days mingled with French society, tells in her "Foreign Courts and Foreign Homes" a story as discreditable to Prince Napoleon as it is honorable to a French artist.

While the artist was painting the historical picture of the battle of the Alma, which the emperor had ordered, Prince Napoleon called at the painter's studio to make known to him the facts. On leaving he said he wished the prominent figure in the battle to be himself mounted on his white charger. He sent the horse artist so that he could paint its exact portrait. When the picture was finished and invitations were sent out for a "private view," the white charger was seen, a prominent figure in the battle, but without a rider. On hearing of this terrible omission the prince sent an aide-de-camp to ask the reason. The honest artist said the horse should remain if the prince wished, but no rider would be on it. "Tell the prince I have never yet painted a lie," the hint was taken. The prince ordered the horse to be rubbed out.

The Business of a Theater.

A prosperous theater in the city of New York may in a favorable season do a business of more than $250,000 and keep in employment 1500 persons. There are 37 theaters, including the variety houses, in active operation in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, while the borough of Brooklyn adds a score or more. Everything which affects business in general affects the theater immediately.

A man will reduce his expenditures for tickets to places of amusement long before he thinks of cutting down his supply of cigars, for the cigar belongs to that class of luxuries which subtly become necessities, while the theater habit, as an observed manager will tell you, requires constant cultivation. The management of a theater is therefore an occupation requiring business sagacity in a greater degree than it calls for artistic taste.—W. J. Henderson in Scribner.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles had been cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.
